

CMSCD1004
Prerequisites

Computer Programming and Problem Solving
CMSCD1003

The aim of the course is to help students develop the advanced C programming concepts help them learn the skills in the use of basic data structures provided by a programming language, the use of advanced programming techniques and rudimentary program design.